Date: 2019
Dear Friends,

Turbulent, unprecedented times, an abundance of caution and racial injustice - these phrases burst upon our psyche in recent months as the Coronavirus exposed both the fragility of our social service safety net and the seemingly unending generosity of our friends and neighbors.

Through it all, The Erie Community Foundation worked with generous donors, strong champions and dedicated nonprofits to accomplish many things previously thought impossible. Our ability to rapidly marshal resources was demonstrated by an emergency Erie Gives focused on the Coronavirus pandemic.

After over a decade of sustained advocacy and financial support, the Pennsylvania Board of Education has approved an application to establish a the Erie County Community College. While challenges remain, this institution will increase educational attainment, strengthen our economy and create pathways out of poverty.

Our downtown is changing before our eyes thanks, in part, to our support of the Erie Downtown Development Corporation. We are learning how to use a portion of our corpus to make smart “mission related investments” and we helped attract an unprecedented $40 million dollar investment fund to Erie, focused on low income opportunity zone investments.

Each of our 2,412 grants helped nonprofits pursue worthy missions. Unrestricted funds, from donors past and present, are used to make competitive grants through a time-tested application process. Other grants are made in accordance with the wishes of our donors. Some gifts “pass through” ECF to support favored charities while other are used to create more permanent named funds.

Last year, our donors made 23,595 gifts totaling $21,106,075. There are now 856 different named funds operating within The Erie Community Foundation with a 2019 year end market value of $286 million. Each fund is accomplishing its mission. In fact, any charitable purpose can be accomplished through The Erie Community Foundation.

We invite you to learn more by reading this annual report, or by contacting our staff or any member of our board of trustees. We also encourage you to consider what missions you can accomplish through thoughtful philanthropic and estate planning.

Sincerely,

Michael L. Batchelor
President

Timothy M. Hunter

While progress is changing the skyline and heart of Erie, struggles for many continue. Nine hundred residents are homeless and thousands of others teeter on the edge. As part of The Erie Community Foundation’s mission to focus on homelessness prevention, we launched a special program and awarded $9,000 each to nine safety net providers. Our local “agents of change” identify families in imminent risk of being homeless, help clients find emergency housing, and provide self-sufficiency through the following grants:

1. Community of Caring created the “Helping Hand Fund” that supports people who are at risk of losing their homes and cares for the mentally ill homeless population.
2. Community Shelter Services assists families in finding permanent housing and a fresh start on life while keeping families together.
3. Erie Dawn’s mission is to find stable housing and provide wrap-around support services for low-income women and their children.
4. Martin Luther King Center’s “Homeless Prevention Program” helps people secure employment and teaches good financial behaviors.
5. The mission of Member-to-Member, Inc. is to provide a hand-up not a hand-out. The nonprofit supports rural, Erie County working-poor families to stay current on utility bills.
6. Mercy Center for Women’s “Fund the Passion” helps women live independently, gain employment and find a new home by providing financial start-up support.
7. Safe Journey’s “Homeless Prevention Program” helps victims of domestic violence install new locks, alarms or security systems, and provides rent and utility assistance.
8. SafeNet is committed to ending domestic violence, affirming human dignity, and delivering comprehensive direct services to victims. SafeNet provides sanctuary, support, education, advocacy, and promotes changes in legislation and social policies.
9. Urban Erie Community Development Corporation created the “Poverty Prevention Housing Assistance Program” to help those who are in danger of losing their home and who live in the poorest zip code.

House our homeless—Mission: Possible.

ENHANCE OUR QUALITY OF LIFE

Nestled in the heart of downtown Erie and downtown Edinboro are two gems improving the quality of life in their communities. Faith Kindig, founder of the Erie Oasis Market, and Marti Martz, founder of the Edinboro Market, know all too well how healthy nutrition can impact a person, a family and a community. Their missions are to ensure residents have access to healthy food and a resilient food system. The Erie Community Foundation provided two grants to meet their missions.

Since opening in February of 2019 and serving over 15,000 customers, Erie Oasis Market creates a direct connection between local, sustainable producers and undeserved consumer segments. A $15,000 grant provides on-going support for year-round access to healthy food for city residents while helping to grow the businesses and farms that supply local produce.

Edinboro Market, Inc. has been delivering year-round access to fresh, local food and operating an entrepreneurial downtown marketplace for food producers since 2017. Their business model utilizes an 80/20 split with growers, which returns profit to the producers and helps support continued viability of both. The Edinboro Market has directly benefited the local economy in Edinboro by returning $100,000+ to producers. A $6,000 grant to The Edinboro Market provides assistance to the regional food hub and engages entrepreneurs in a sustainable food system.

FIELD NOTES

- Serves the Erie & Edinboro downtown residents
- Increases access to fresh and local food year-round
- Connects local producers and under-served residents

Two beacons of hope in our community are Gaudenzia Erie Inc. and the Multi-Cultural Health Evaluation Delivery System (MHEDS). Regardless of a person’s ability to pay, the nonprofits offer primary and mental health care, and recovery and rehabilitation. Both organizations serve a wide range of citizens including refugees and immigrants; however both needed grant dollars to literally make doors accessible to their clients. Because access to critical and mental health services should not be made more difficult for individuals with disabilities, The Erie Community Foundation awarded funds for ADA compliant doorways.

Through a $20,000 “Opening Doors to Recovery Grant,” Gaudenzia installed six, handicapped-accessible doors at their Crossroads facility. The staff knew the old doors were a barrier for those struggling with addiction and acted quickly to replace the doors to help even more individuals to recovery. Gaudenzia aids people affected by substance use disorder, mental illness and related conditions to achieve a better quality of life--allowing them to live as productive and accountable individuals.

MHEDS provides primary health care services to the “medically at-risk” and low income patient populations of Northwest Pennsylvania and Northeast Ohio, with 80% of patients served primarily speaking languages other than English. The $5,000 grant improves handicap access to its building and accommodates their patients who are elderly, disabled or injured during escape from their homelands.

Providing access to health care–Mission: Possible.
MISSION NO. 4
CREATE CAREER PATHWAYS TO REDUCE POVERTY

FOCUS

CREATE CAREER PATHWAYS TO REDUCE POVERTY

With a mission to change the trajectory of staggering poverty statistics, The Erie Community Foundation furnishes grant support to improve financial independence and occupational advancement.

To date, over 1,000 students have participated in the Erie Summer Jobs and More (Summer JAM) program, which the Foundation annually supports with an impactful grant. The seven-year-old collaborative effort between Erie County, Erie County Gaming Revenue Authority, the Greater Erie Community Action Committee (GECAC) and other supportive organizations addresses employability issues for disconnected youth between 16 to 21-year-olds. Summer JAM offers job readiness training, career exploration and employment opportunities.

A $39,047 grant to GECAC supports Unified Erie’s Reentry Services and Support Alliance. Through this funding, men and women, who previously made poor life choices or who are high risk for involvement in violence, are given a second chance to turn their life around. The “Call-In” program shows remarkable results for Erie’s violence reduction effort and increased self-sufficiency. The program offers services to transitioning clients through an intentional network of community and faith-based organizations in partnership with the criminal justice system.

A $9,000 “Homeless Prevention through Employment” grant enables the Martin Luther King Center/Bayfront NATO to provide a navigator/mentoring model for low-income adults. Erie’s average earned income is $18,877, the funding helps to reverse the downward trends. The workforce development strategies are more than just finding jobs, but rather jumpstarting careers.

Create career pathways to reduce poverty—Mission: Possible.

QUALITY EDUCATION FOR ALL

American anthropologist Margaret Mead believed in teaching young people how to think, not what to think. Education leads to opportunities. The Erie Community Foundation funds grants to educate our young and prepare them when opportunity knocks.

Many of Erie’s youth lack hope, which can lead to senseless violence and chaos. The mission of the Eagle’s Nest Leadership Corp. is to instill optimism through a concrete career pathway. The Foundation awarded a $25,000 grant for the Eagles Nest new auditorium where financial literacy and employability initiatives are offered. The Foundation also invested $30,000 for a wheelchair ramp and a partnership with Erie Public Schools to offer an innovative Program of Academic Distinction for 5th and 6th graders.

A $20,000 grant to the Booker T. Washington Center funded “The Big Assist” program, which implements community support for 7th and 12th grade students and improves graduation rates. The program provides educational foundations for economically disadvantaged students to focus on careers through shadowing, mentoring and academic support.

A $15,800 grant to All About Character, Inc., which is garnering national attention, supports a leadership curriculum taught by Pennsylvania State Troopers to kindergartners through 8th grade students. Each trained trooper works 32 weeks in a specific school. Students in the program consistently increase pro-social behaviors, decrease anti-social behaviors, and have a more positive attitude toward law enforcement.

A $10,000 grant to Dafmark Dance Theatre sparked collaboration with St. Martin Early Learning Center, where most of the children face poverty. The Dance Infused Education Grant offers a creative and educational experience in the art of dance for 240 students. Outcomes report that students who participate in the arts tend to stay in school, plan for college, volunteer and vote.

Once a student graduates from high school, many avenues for continuing education exist. Adding to local options, Empower Erie’s mission is to establish an Erie County Community College with aims of greater educational attainment, increased household income, a skilled workforce and attraction of more businesses to Erie. The Foundation continues to be a county’s lead supporter to ensure equitable educational access for all.

Quality education for all–Mission: Possible.

STRENGTHEN & DIVERSIFY THE ECONOMY

Transformational philanthropy flips Erie’s script. Forward-thinking decisions coupled with powerful grantmaking makes meaningful change as evident in four major grants.

A $6 million grant to Hamot Health Foundation leveraged multiples of financial support needed to expand the Magee Women’s Research Institute to Erie, attract significant national investment in research, add high skill employment and increase health benefits for generations of women. The grant also supported a new biomedical research lab at Penn State Behrend’s Knowledge Park. Since Erie is home to multi-generations of families, genomic studies and clinical trials can target cancer treatments for all residents. Because of the Foundation’s anchor investment, fifty new jobs are forecasted by year five and 195 by year ten. Federal research dollars will be approximately $15 million in the first five years, and eventually reach $50 million. Hamot Health Foundation, UPMC, MWRI Foundation and Penn State committed $5 million to the project for a sum total investment of $26 million.

The Foundation supports United Way Erie FREE Taxes with an annual $40,000 grant to help low income households achieve financial stability. The program provides free tax preparation service to low-moderate income tax filers furthering the mission of United Way as a local social impact organization on a mission to crush poverty in our community.

A $15,000 grant to the Enterprise Development Fund, which is a community development financing organization, helped re-brand the stand-alone entity that provides gap-financing to area entrepreneurs and businesses. As a key player in financial investment for community-based projects, the fund serves low-income, minority, rural and women borrowers. The rebrand raised community visibility and utilization of the Enterprise Development Fund.

A $9,275 grant to the Erie Neighborhood Growth Partnership, formed in 2004, supports collaboration among community development organizations working to address blight, safety and beautification. The grant assisted the Erie Land Bank with development and website creation. Critical for transparency, the website increases the land bank’s ability to provide timely information and interaction with the public. The award enabled representatives to model Youngstown Neighborhood Development Corp.’s similar successful efforts.

Strengthen and diversify Erie’s economy...Mission: Possible.

FIELD NOTES

- Leverages grants from local partners to create meaningful change
- Invests in the community, to create a more stable environment for all

To streamline their philanthropic giving to favored nonprofits, the King’s opened a donor designated fund in 2007, which also supports “Julie’s Garden” at the Erie Zoo.
During Erie Gives, Linda and Brian Graff donated $10,000 to Erie Arts & Culture for the beautiful mural on Methodist Towers. Patrick Fischer, Executive Director of Erie Arts & Culture, thanked the Graff’s for their generosity, and Mayor Joe Schember presented the couple with a key to the City of Erie.

Recently the Northwest PA Food Council, which served as a membership organization for Erie County family-owned grocery stores and local wholesale food suppliers since the 1950s, dissolved. With the $530,000 remaining assets, the council voted to create two funds at The Erie Community Foundation. Pictured left to right: Susannah Weis Frigon, Mike Weber, Jim Bello, Dan Serafin, Joe Bello and Erin Fessler.

The Erie Community Foundation makes the impossible…possible by connecting donors to their favored causes. On behalf of donors, The Erie Community Foundation awarded grants totaling $21,106,075 to local nonprofits in 2019.

Donor Christine Spadafor honored her parents Arthur and Mary Spadafor by establishing an endowment at The Erie Community Foundation to benefit numerous nonprofits including The Neighborhood Art House, MLK Center, Booker T. Washington Center and scholarships at Mercyhurst University and Erie County Technical School. Pictured left to right: Susannah Weis Frigon, Mike Weber, Jim Bello, Dan Serafin, Joe Bello and Erin Fessler.
The Erie Community Foundation recently established a youth philanthropy program called H.E.Y! – Hear Erie’s Youth. Students, in grades 6 through 12 from various Erie City and County schools, learn about philanthropy, research nonprofits, develop giving goals and make grants.
